Youth Ecosperity Dialogue (YED)
5 – 10 July 2020

Introduction

The Youth Ecosperity Dialogue (YED) is an annual event organized by Singapore Management University where student leaders from institutions of higher education across Asia gather together to discuss the challenges in sustainability and collaborate on solutions for a better tomorrow. It is a platform to connect future youth environment leaders with global thought leaders and like-minded international corporations to understand green technology and build a community with other inspirational student environment leaders. This year, the YED will take place during 5 – 10 July.

The name “Ecosperity” twins ecology with prosperity, reflecting the belief that doing good and doing well can and must go together. YED participants will investigate and collaborate with each other to solve real world business cases, with an emphasis on sustainable solutions. The 6-day programme is set in the historic downtown of Singapore.

The Chinese University of Hong Kong is invited to nominate five high calibre student[s to attend the YED 2020. Participants will stay at Hotel G, located in the heart of Singapore’s cultural district. The programme covers the full costs of flight (for participants residing outside Singapore), accommodation, meals and conference fee. 100 student environment leaders are expected to attend this fully funded programme.

For details on the programme, please refer to https://business.smu.edu.sg/conference/YED2020. If you wish to be nominated by CUHK, please submit an application to the Office of Academic Links before 12:00 noon, 29 January 2020.
